ABOUT US

Collabdays is a one-day regional community event and sister to the larger CollabSummit that takes place in Europe and the United States. The organizers; Tony Pounder, Paul Hunt (MVP), and Brett Lonsdale (MVP) have successfully hosted Collabdays Birmingham, and formerly SharePoint Saturday UK every year since 2010. Collabdays makes it possible for attendees to visit an in-person event within their region and learn from some of the best Microsoft 365 speakers in the industry.

THE VENUE – NATIONAL MUSEUM OF COMPUTING UK

- The National Museum of Computing (TNMOC) is home to the world's largest collection of working historic computers.
- One of England’s top 100 irreplaceable places
- Home to the Turing-Welchman Bombe & Colossus of the 1940’s
- See the rise of computing through the 50’s, 60’s, 70’s, and 80’s

SPONSORS

All proceeds from the sponsorship will help towards the running costs of the National Museum of Computing, and to help fund the Ambassador Kids program to inspire the next generation of technology leaders.

Each Platinum or Gold sponsor can exhibit through many of the different rooms at Collabdays. This helps to avoid a central gathering, but also guarantees through traffic through the museums one way system to your stand.
